

(Senior) Consultant Energy Network Business

These are your tasks:

- You will support network operators, ministries and investors in implementing the energy transition in projects with high strategic relevance and future orientation.
- Your tasks range from helping to shape the legislative and regulatory framework, to strategy and management projects, to implementing modern operating and planning strategies and processes for grid operators.
- We will develop your thematic focus together depending on your professional background and interests.
- The geographic focus of your activities is Germany and Scandinavia.

What we offer you:

- You will be part of an excellent multidisciplinary team with very high expertise and international experience in a very motivating and open atmosphere.
- We invest in your personal and professional development and offer you a wide range of opportunities for individual training.
- At E-Bridge, you can actively shape answers to the most important questions of the energy transition and accompany them until their actual implementation.
- You will have the opportunity to collaborate and network directly with executives in the German and European energy industry.
- We offer a very high degree of flexibility in terms of workplace, scope and hours and will work with you to find the perfect solution and compatibility with your private environment.

This is what we expect from you:

- You have expertise in the field of energy networks through a major field of study, doctorate or professional experience with network operators.
- You have a quick grasp, recognize correlations and draw the right conclusions to find innovative solutions.
- You own a very good degree or doctorate in electrical engineering, power engineering or renewable energies (also industrial engineering).
